MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS

We gather the following details of news from papers received by the Oriflamme

The Executive Committee of the Democratic State Central Committee of Michigan have decided against calling a State convention at present

Admiral Wilkes of the Penn notoriety has bought large landed property at the heart of North Carolina, including extensive iron works, and is engaged in getting ready to develope it

Rhode Island does up its yearly legislating in the shortest possible time In four days the legislature inaugurated a new Governor, passed acts and resolutions, and adjourned

The Cleveland (Ohio) Herald asserts that the lake steamboats now use fish for fuel Huge sixty pound sturgeon are thing hand foremost in to the furnace The oil assists the combustion of the wood—twenty sturgeon being equal to a cord of wood in the production of heat

The Kentucky Johnson State Convention assembled in Louisville on May 30 It was poorly attended Resolutions were passed endorsing President Johnson's course in very qualified terms Mr B R Billing was nominated as their candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals

George W Childs, Esq, has presented to the Commissioner of City Property of Philadelphia the lifeboat used by Dr Kane in his escape from the perils of the Arctic Seas The boat is to be hung, between two trees in Fairmount Park, near the Log Cabin and a light shed will be placed over it, to protect it from the weather

There is likely to be a contest in the Vermont Assembly next fall of an electing Judge Poland who holds his position as Senator by appointment to fill the vacancy created by the decease of Senator Collamer Mr Morrill is a candidate for the place and George P Marsh now Minister to Italy, is also presented by his political friends

The Cincinnati Gazette's correspondent gives a gloomy account of affairs in Mississippi and Louisiana, growing out of the destructive effects of the late unprecedented floods In many places the planters are out of money and even provisions, and some plantations will be abandoned unless aid can be obtained from the North

Hon Moses H Odell, Naval Officer of the port of New York, is dead A crowd of applicants are after his place George Blount and Mr Bailey are reported among the number—but as no Federal appointment of any consequence in the city has been given to a soldier it is considered that Col Hillyer's chances are the best.

The Assistant Commissioner of the Bureau of Refugees and Freedmen in the district containing the States of Missouri and Arkansas, reports to the Commissioner that the number of rations on hand is not necessary to be issued to the destitute of that district during the month of June, are as follows Whites 80 000 Freedmen, 11,000 Total number of rations, 100,000

The Democrats of Indiana have nominated the following State ticket For Secretary of State Gen Malvon B Hanson, of Montgomery; for Auditor of State, Christian Bridget of Clark; for Attorney General, John R. Coffroth, of Hunting ton for Superintendent of Public Instruction, H H Chapman, of Knox. Conventions have been called in every district for the nomination of Congressional candidates.

The Ruswa (S. C.) Courier publishes an appeal to the citizens of Pickens signed by some of the most influential men in the community in behalf of the poor in the vicinity The Courier says there are not less than 600 families, or an aggregate population of 4,000 allowing an average of five souls to a family, on the point of starvation in that district. Of these, at least 2,000 are widows and orphans almost entirely helpless, and made so by the misfortunes of war.

Full returns of the West Virginia election have not yet come in, but a majority ranging from eight to twelve thousand has been figured up for the amendment of the State Constitution. The text of the amendment is as follows "No person who, since the 1st day of June, 1861, has given or shall give voluntary aid or assistance to the rebellion against the United States, shall be a citizen of the State, or be allowed to vote at any election held therein, unless he has volunteered into the military or naval service of the United States, and has been or shall be honorably discharged therefrom"

The State Convention of North Carolina is pressing for representation in Congress, on the ground that the people have manifested their loyalty by promptly adopting the ordinances declaring null and void the act of secession, prohibiting slavery, the payment of rebel debts, and such other measures as were deemed necessary to restore the State to its former relations in the Union. Gov. Worth's brief message complains of taxation without representation, that Congress has provided no terms of admission, and he declares that the representatives elect are believed to be as loyal as any men in the United States.

At the recent session of the Circuit Court of Hampshire County, West Virginia, says a Richmond paper, Judge Bunker—whom many will recollect as a messenger from the Masons of his State to the Masonic Grand Lodge of Virginia at its last session—pronounced his decision upon the law requiring suitors to take the test oath in the following emphatic language "This law is in violation of the Federal and State Constitutions, violates the essential principles of our Government, and is therefore illegal and of no obligation"

John Townsend of Edisto Island, S. C., the man who gave the Confederacy $100,000 in gold in 1861 has not been more successful in keeping his recently hired German laborers than he was in retaining his slaves He says "They boost me $35 each to bring them to Charleston from New York I fed them far better than ever I thought of feeding my hands, even gave them coffee and sourkrout when what should they do but demand butter for their bread and milk for their coffee, and the next thing the whole crowd left me"

Secretary Seward has written a letter to Governor Wells of Louisiana which does away with a practice long in vogue in that State and cuts off the Governor from his fat fees in connection therewith The letter is in relation to passports Mr Seward says he has been directed by the President "to inform the Governors of the several States that the granting of passports by them or any other State authority is deemed to be in contravention of the Constitution and laws of the United States and of the laws of nations and that all such instruments are illegal and void and that all such instruments if in no case be recognized by this Department or accepted or recognized by the Governments of Foreign States

It was announced some time since that a grand convention of the Indians of the Plains would assemble at Fort Laramie in the month of June, for the purpose of making a treaty A letter from Laramie dated June 7th says the Indians there assembled are leaving to gather in their warriors, that they may hear what the Great Father's agents have to tell them They object very strongly to the whites going through their country or making any new roads and also ask that the troops be withdrawn from Fort Reno; but the Peace Commissioners are equally decided in refusing their demands and do not intend to make a treaty of peace unless the whites are allowed to go wherever they please

On the 5th of June, Judge Underwood, of the United States Court at Richmond declined to give a decision on the question as to the right of lawyers to practice in that court without taking the oath prescribed by Congress He remarked that he knew not be in contemplation to repeal the disqualifying Act of January 1865 and was of the opinion that the Act would be repealed before the adjournment of the present Congress The Grand Jury which indicted Jeff Davis, presented several new bills on the 7th and were discharged until the second Tuesday of October next, and the court adjourned till that time It was reported in Richmond that the Grand Jury had presented indictments for treason against several prominent officers of the late Confederate government Messrs O Connor and Shea, of counsel for Davis are still in Washington and report says they expect a favorable decision on their application for the parole of Davis—the required security having been already submitted

American Pacific Fleet

In the Alta of the 20th ult the relative strength of the various fleets assigned to different ports of the Pacific Ocean was given it being estimated that the United States have now, or soon will have as formidable a fleet in the Pacific Ocean as the entire naval marine of the country before the late war The Asiatic squadron numbers four steam vessels and forty-seven guns This fleet is intended to do duty on the Asiatic Pacific coast and, from Eastern advices, is, we learn, to be considerably increased in the number of vessels, and consequently, in the number of guns

The South Pacific squadron numbers eight vessels and ninety three guns, and is intended to do duty between Panama and Cape Horn

The North Pacific squadron is composed of ten ships and one hundred and seven guns Among these vessels are the two iron clad monitors Camanche, single turret, and the Monadnock, dou le turret Their guns are the heaviest afloat and with our land fortifications, render the harbor secure as against any of the present naval vessels of foreign powers now in the Pacific or probably any which could be sent here from the Atlantic Ocean

Among other vessels in the North Pacific squadron, the headquarters of which are at San Francisco, are the Vanderbilt, Lancaster, Saginaw and Shenandoah yet not one of these vessels except the latter, have been where their presence is most needed. The supposition among landsmen is, that war vessels are intended for the protection of our people in times of peace, but more particularly so in time of war but thus far, during the war going on in Northern Mexico the navy has been very sparing of its presence in the Gulf ports Americans and American interests have suffered at a fearful rate in the Pacific coast ports of Mexico The national ensign has been looked for in vain in the hour of trouble and tribulation

On the late passage of the Lancaster and Monadnock from Panama they could have rendered some service to the interests of our people if they had looked in Mazatlan Guaymas and La Paz From the utter neglect of Americans in those ports during the past two years, our commercial and mining interests, which were flourishing to a large degree, have been almost annihilated, and our people have left the opened business fields in disgust, and trade has languished to simply supplying the French at Mazatlan and Guaymas with the stores necessary for their subsistence For two years have our people been begging and entreating for the sight of a war vessel with a commander who was a live American, but they have experienced bitter disappointment, and from present appearances they will be doomed to a longer period of waiting.

The present European difficulties may probably bring them relief before our war vessels wake up The telegraphic report stated a few days since that the intended withdrawal of French troops from Mexico was satisfactory to our Government and if they go, Austria, with her hands full in Europe, will not be able to send Maximilian troops sufficient to hold but a small portion, if any, of Mexican territory.

In this event, Mexican authority will again take precedence on this coast at least, and trade and American interests may recover again their former importance The business of this coast, from Alcapulco to Puget Sound, belongs to San Francisco, and every effort should be made by the proper authorities to protect it from molestation.

THE ALT DISFRANCHISING DESERTERS.—The telegraph announces that Governor Curtin on Monday signed the bill passed by a unanimous vote of the Republican members of the State Legislature of both Houses, last March, providing for the disfranchisement of deserters. Congress, in prescribing punishment for deserters from the military and naval service affixed, among other penalties, the loss of the right of citizenship including the elective franchise, and the right to hold office, and it included in its category of deserters those who, being drafted or enrolled, failed to report or absconded from their proper districts. This law was in operation at the last general election, but it was not rigidly enforced in every district, and doubts of its constitutionality having been expressed by the Copperheads (who are deeply interested in the question, inasmuch as it is estimated that the number of deserters in Pennsylvania is thirty thousand, nearly all of whom, belong to the Democratic party), a test case was carried up from Franklin county to the Supreme Court After the passage of the new

SPECIAL PAPER OF THE STATE.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 11, 1866.

Law for the Sale of Mineral Lands.

Whether the act providing for the location and sale of mineral lands, which passed the Senate a short time ago, has also passed the House, we are not yet informed. It is widely believed, however, that if it has not already passed, it shortly will, and that it will also receive the approval of the President. It is, perhaps, as little objectionable as any law having a like object, could be. The chief design of it is to enable men to procure and hold from the Government a regular and perpetual title to mining lands. It provides that no location shall hereafter extend over three hundred feet along the lode or vein for each locator, with an additional claim for the discovery of the mine. It is further provided that bona fide homesteads at present made on mineral lands, may be sold to the holders at the rate of $1 25 per acre, the whole quantity for each purchaser not to exceed 160 acres. Lodes that are located and surveyed, will be sold at five dollars per acre, the owner thereof to pay yearly, till the National Debt shall be paid, three per cent. of the net products of the mine. Lands that are clearly agricultural are to be disposed of like other portions of the national domain.

The great objection to the act is the clause which requires payment to the Government of three per cent. of the net proceeds of the mines. There exists no valid reason why miners after purchasing their land should pay this tax on its products, any more than why farmers should be required to pay the like proportion of the profits of their labor to the Government. The average cost in labor or money of obtaining a dollar in gold or silver from the mines, is quite as great as the cost of obtaining a dollar's worth of wheat or agricultural products from the soil. The anxiety of Congress to provide for the payment of the National Debt was evidently the cause of the insertion of this provision in the bill. It would, however, appear that this special tax is to be remitted when the debt shall have been discharged.

Paris Universal Exposition.

The Paris Universal Exposition will commence April 1st, and close October 31st, 1867. The amount of space assigned to the United States in the Exhibition Palace is thirty thousand feet. Those who desire space for the exhibition of articles can obtain it only by making application through the agency at New York, whereof J. G. Derby is manager. In the circular issued by the Agent last January it was stated that applications for space to be successful, were required to reach New York as early as the 1st of March, 1866. This time being entirely too short to allow of any application being made from this State, Governor Gibbs wrote last April to the Agent at New York, asking that the time for the reception of articles from Oregon might be extended so that we could participate in the exhibition. To this letter the following reply has been received:

U. S. AGENT FOR THE PARIS UNIVERSAL EXHIBITION, }
NEW YORK, May 31, 1866. }

To His Excellency, Gov. Gibbs:

It is desirable that the State of Oregon be represented in the French Exhibition, and, therefore, as far as your State is concerned, the time is extended. Please, therefore, as as early a day as possible, let me know the space you will certainly fill, and it shall be reserved for you. The articles themselves will have to be in New York as early as December next. Yours truly,

J. G. DERBY.

Oregon should be represented at Paris by a large variety of articles of her own production and manufacture. C. M. Carter, Esq., of this city, has consented to take under his charge to New York whatever the people of this State may wish to send to the exhibition. As the time is comparatively short, promptitude will be required in preparing and forwarding all articles which it is designed to send from this State.

New Book.

The Military and Naval History of the Rebellion, in the United States, with Biographical sketches of deceased officers, illustrated with steel plate portraits. By W. J. Tenny, editor of the Annual American Cyclopedia. New York: D. Appleton & Co., 1866.

For comprehensiveness of design, fullness of statement and completeness of detail, this book is equal if not superior to any work, yet published. It begins with a statement of the civil and political proceedings which took place previous to the war and led to its commencement. Every battle and skirmish that occurred during the conflict is accurately described. The plans and objects of the various campaigns are stated, and the work is illustrated with maps delineating the progress of the opposing armies step by step throughout the struggle. The organization of the armies is stated in detail; the improvement in arms and modes of defense is illustrated; the work of the great charitable institutions for the relief of the army is explained, and the action of the opposing statesmen relative to the treatment of prisoners is stated. The book gives with biographical sketches of the military and naval officers who have fallen in the rebellion. S. Robinson, now in this city, is general agent for the book for Oregon. R. Barton is exclusively for subscriptions for this work.

The New York Tribune says that, to exchange list embraces about one thousand journals which supported Lincoln and Johnson in 1864; and that of that number not more than twenty now support the President as against Congress. More than nine hundred of them openly and heartily endorse Congress as against the President. By this, it would seem that about one fiftieth of the Tribune's Union exchanges are in favor of impudency, four fiftieths are astride the fence, and forty-five fiftieths are out and out Union. These are, perhaps, very nearly the proportions, if they exist, among the Union men who voted for Lincoln and Johnson. "My policy" kicks the beam when weighed in Union scales.

A Union man in the Connecticut Legislature, recently introduced a resolution declaring that hereafter, loyal white men in the North ought to have equal representation with disloyal white men in the South. The Connecticut members all voted against the resolution. Equality of representation is just what they don't want—they want to count all the negroes in the basis of representation and then do all the voting themselves. The idea of a loyal man in the North being clothed with as much political power as a disloyal chiv, is extremely repugnant to Democracy.

The Marysville Appeal is informed by Mr. G. W. Colby that the rust is badly affecting all the late-sown wheat in the counties of Tehama, Colusa and Butte.

FROM PANAMA AND SOUTH AMERICA.

Panama dates are to the 21st of June:

Admiral Don Blasco Encalada had been appointed to the command of the allied squadron and proceeded to the Archipelago of Chiloe with the corvette Union to await the arrival of the iron steamers Huascar and Independencia.

The Chilean Government has issued a decree expelling all Spanish residents.

The National Banks had offered a loan to the Government of $800,000,000.

The Spanish fleet had been withdrawn from Peruvian waters, and their future course was a matter of speculation.

The pioneer steamer of the Panama, New Zealand and Australian Mail Line—Rakaia—arrived at Panama on the 17th, from Europe, and was to have sailed for New Zealand on the 24th.

The news from Peru was not important.

Commissioners have been sent to Europe to make arrangements for establishing a telegraph line across Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia and Chile.

The Chilean coast towns were being placed in a condition for better defense.

The experiment of sugar raising on the Isthmus, is said to be successful.

The government of Ecuador has issued a decree condemning to death all who directly or indirectly aid, or give any support to the Spaniards.

STATE ITEMS.

From the testimony had in the coroner's inquest upon the body of John Hamelton of Canyon ville, the presumption is strong that he committed suicide.

Another assessment, of one dollar per share, has been levied on the stock of the Excelsior Gold and Silver Mining Company. This is the 7th assessment on the stock.

Wheat is reported worth only sixty cents a bushel at Salem. An intelligent farmer of French Prairie expresses the opinion that it will not sell for more than 50 cents after harvest.

Capt. Lafollett's Company was mustered out at Fort Yamhill on the 1st inst. The Corvallis Gazette and the Statesman, each pays the officers and men high compliments—endeavoring thus to honor with that cordiality which every returning soldier ought to meet everywhere.

The settlers upon the Lands about Yaquina Bay have encountered an unlooked-for difficulty. The Register informs them that until the lands are surveyed and plats approved by the proper authorities, no title but that of a squatter can be acquired. This upsets all the speculative plans of prospective town site proprietors.

The State Journal, describing a trip over a portion of the Oregon Central Military Road, mentions a number of small prairies beyond the present limits of settlement, on which might be located a number of farms. It says the land is "the very best in Oregon, and will in a few years furnish homes for several hundred families."

The Rose-an Sisters of the Immaculate Conception, says the Statesman, will give an eighth annual exhibition on Friday evening, July 13th, at 8 o'clock, in the chapel of the new University. On the 15th, Rev. P. S. Knight, one of the early members of the Methodist Church, will deliver an address before the literary societies of the University.

The Statesman is of opinion that the wheat crop of the State for the coming harvest, will not be as heavy as was anticipated, and is inclined to believe from the developments of the past three weeks, that breadstuffs must go up from present figures considerably. Its reasons for this opinion "are found in the now inevitable gigantic European wars which must draw largely on the United States for food and provisions; and also in the fact that the wheat crop has failed greatly in the great grain-growing States of the West."

The Statesman says it has "reliable information of an oil discovery in the Umpqua valley, made very recently, which is veritable, genuine petroleum. The whole matter will be tested at an early day.....While on this subject, we may state that a number of enterprising citizens of Salem are about organizing a company to test the oil and coal indications over in Polk. We learn that some sixteen hundred acres of land have been leased, for this purpose, the necessary boring apparatus to put down a hole several hundred feet has been purchased, and that the work will be commenced at an early day."

FROM IDAHO.

We obtain the following items from the World of June 30th:

A resident of Pioneer City was robbed a few days ago, while on the road from that place to Placerville. He started out with $4,800, but meeting with some suspicious characters, he returned to Pioneer that evening, remained during the night, and left on the same road the next morning. We understand that he met with the same characters and was robbed of his money.

Tice, Cotle, Jr., & Co. have established a packing house in this city. J. L. Smith, manager. Office with Wells, Fargo & Co.

The copious rains which have fallen throughout this portion of Idaho Territory during the spring, have given a coloring and luxuriance to the vegetation, unequalled by any preceding year.

The Chinese have been doing a big a big horse business lately. Many of them are going to Blackfoot, others to various portions of the Basin, and horses are in demand. A daily market is held at the corner of Wall and Main.

Gov. Weller is stumping the Territory in behalf of Holbrook and the Democratic ticket generally.

J. H. Whitson is Democratic candidate for Prosecuting Attorney in the 4th district.

Fanny Morgan Phelps is to start for Montana July 4th.

Dalliell's Fast Freight Line has been sold to Greathouse & Co. for $31,000.

Marion Myers had arrived home from the east, after an absence of several months.

The report recently current of the hanging by vigilants of H. S. Smith, is denied, through a card by W. E. Taylor.

BANKING OFF.—In our walk about the city yesterday we observed another branch of business growing up in the range of Fifth and Salmon streets, where our friend Wm. Braden has planted his stake. The city is constantly spreading; like the spiral sheets of a grapevine, and will soon wrap itself entirely over the available space within the compass of the corporate limits of the city. Getting, as we early day, the subscription of far additions to the city of Portland Mr. Braden was not at home at the time of our call but from the clerk we learned that a very fair average per minute is maintained at the counter. In our recollections of the locality above mentioned, but three or four years ago it was sparsely populated but now, at every point of the compass fine and substantial improvements are met with for at least a dozen blocks in extent, toward the more valuable, or western extremity. On the block in question is the finest building in the State where in 1864 was only on an unfinished and a few low frame houses. We able to find the new county Court House. Messrs Goodenough & Clark several persons engaged in giving the structure its finishing touches, preparatory to handing it over to the county early in August, six months in advance of the time specified by their contract. The plastering is all completed throughout the entire building, the furniture and Judges' desk in the court room, is nearly finished, and a fine stone pavement in front of the main point is to be added to the outside of the building, while that of the inside is well advanced. It is expected that the county officers Jailer and family, and prisoners will be transferred to their new quarters within thirty days. The keys to the arch over the front entrance is being chiseled into a fine bust of the martyred President Lincoln, and to right of steps put up leading to the street. When the structure is complete it will have cost the county $75,000 or $80 000, and will be the finest building on the northern coast. Passing on up Fifth street we noticed a large number of dwellings in process of erection some of them costly structures, and at the corner of Fourth and Market streets, which was last year the favorite "corner lot" for a cow, Mr. Boydon is finishing a fine brick store two stories high with square front three stories 60 feet in size. Who says Portland is not building on?

TREASURE SHIPMENT.—The steamer Golden Gate on June 30th, took a very heavy treasure shipment from the Pacific coast, amounting to the sum of $2,445,763 32, with the following destinations:

To New York	$1,551,416 18
To England	850,340 14
To Panama	5,000 00
Total	$2,445,763 32

The official returns show that the exports for the month of June were $4,803,230 76, which is, without doubt the largest amount ever sent away in the same period of time on mercantile account. There have been large amounts sent by single steamers, says the Alta, as, for instance, in February, 1864, the amount exported was $3,520,941; of this amount, however, $3,500,000, which had accumulated here from quartz mill receipts, was exported to England by the First Bonanza, Mr. Lane, and the sterling exchange drawn against it was sold in New York to keep down the rate there with a view to depress the price of gold. That was an exceptional transaction, however. The amount then sent in mercantile account was less than half what was remitted for individuals, independent of the Treasury, which has also been a shipper.

OBSERVANCE OF SUNDAY.—The right of barbers to keep their places of business open on Sunday has been decided on by competent legal authority in Hartford, Conn., where the question whether or no the privilege was pursued by the tonsorial craft had almost attained the attitude of being connected with politics. In the case of Wm. Hill, charged with violation of the Sunday law in keeping his barber shop open on the Lord's day, the Judge before whom it was tried held that the term "absolute necessity" in the statute, which permits "works of necessity" on the Sabbath, does not refer to physical necessity, but to those things which refer to convenience and comfort. He cited the case of Commonwealth vs. Knox, the defendant being indicted for unlawfully traveling on the Sabbath, in the decision of which the Court says, "By necessity there cannot be understood physical necessity; for then case in which man is physically obliged to travel can hardly be imagined, but moral fitness or propriety of traveling under the circumstances of any particular case." He said that he should not hold that selling milk was a violation, because, although there is no physical necessity, there is a great convenience in having fresh milk for supper, so great as to amount practically to a necessity. Hospitality, therefore, is the showing of coat more in barber-shops, and decided accordingly.

PASSING BY LAND.—Hundreds of persons were recently passed by land ground up with flour, at the Philipsburgh county, New York, Mills. The owner of the mills, an old man named Marsh, was too penurious—money being his God—to put a new run of stones in place of an old worn out set, and the old sun required such extensive repairs that the cavities frequently manufacturing the new ones filled up with common sand, instead of the coarse gravel usual for that purpose. In time filling the land perforce above the surface of the stone, and was ground down level. When the mill was running the attrition caused by the velocity, detached particles of sand from the stone, and mingled them almost imperceptibly with the flour, imparting enough to every pound to make a small brick shot. The sand in this form was comparatively harmless, but when fermented and subjected to the baking process, it became immediately transformed into carbonate of lead—the deadliest of all lead poisons. Bread of this kind was but little better than bread spread with white lead as a substitute for butter, and as remarked most unfortunately of a man ignorant of the poisonous properties of the one and not to give the above reason that it may be as exciting to artisans, and a caution to the buyers and consumers of flour.

NOVEL IDEA.—Miss Ann E. Adams, of Missouri, has not smiled 68 years of age residing at Danville, Va., is cutting her fourth set of teeth and growing a new crop of hair. Miss Elizabeth Chrisey, a widow, 65 years of age, living in Winchester, is cutting a new set of teeth, after losing toothless for years.—Ex.

An old gentleman of our acquaintance living south of this city, has just had a process completed in his mouth, at 50 apiece, the pain experienced in cutting teeth is very severe, and thinks old iron who stand it without hypocrisy "cross" ought to be executed.

THE PIONEER.—The bark Sam Merrill, Capt. Manson, arrived at San Francisco on Saturday last, three and a half days from the Columbia river. The bark Almatia, Capt. A. B. Richardson is now six days out, en route to this port. The bark June A. Falkenburg, Capt. Dixon will be about ready to take her departure hence for Honolulu. The bark C. A. Pillsbury, Capt. Abbott, has just commenced discharging her inward cargo from Hongkong.

CORNER KEPT.—Mr. J. C. Gardner, who for four years past has faithfully acted as Warden of the Penitentiary, at this city, leaves as soon for a visit to the Atlantic States. He carries with him the best wishes of all who know him. Upon his retirement from the position of Warden, his associates in office tendered him a fitting tribute of their respect in the public expression of their regard. We trust that Mr. Gardner will reap a rich benefit from the disposal of his own invention for keeping refractory convicts.

DISTINGUISHED PERSONAGES.—Major General H. W. Halleck and staff, composed as follows: Brs. C. C. Kenney, Col. J. McI. Taylor, Major H. M. Scott, Lieut. Colonel W. K. Amsberg and Major D. J. Williamson, arrived by the steamer Oriental last evening from a tour through the mountains from Sacramento via Star City and Boise City to Portland, which are to be visited in the future some of them will be decided upon by them. They are stopping at Arrington's.

ARRIVAL.—The Steamship Montana, Capt Kelly, arrived last evening from San Francisco. The Oriziba which cleared from this port on Sunday morning, arrived at San Francisco last evening.

FOR VICTORIA.—On Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, the steamship Fidelity, Capt. Perkins, will leave this port for Victoria.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JULY 10.

The European War.

NEW YORK, July 8.—The London Times of June 27th contains several important dispatches. A Leipsic, Saxony dispatch of June 25th, says that a Prussian army corps had arrived at Dresden to press against Bavaria. A Berlin dispatch of the 26th says the army of the Elbe had a successful engagement near Prague last Sunday. Capturing seven Austrian officers and 1000 men as prisoners. The Austrians have retreated from their strongholds on the Silesian. The Italians have taken possession of Port Dunalilo.

An Austrian dispatch of the 27th says twelve men of war, comprising the fleet appeared in sight of the Austrian squadron at Lissa, and the Italian squadron is preparing to follow and attack them.

A Florence Chronicle of the 28th says at the battle of Custozza the Austrians fought with unusual bravery.

The fleet Italian squadron reserves still. Rights to the Gulf of Quillo, put to sea in force, notwithstanding assertions of Austria that Lissa was the Italian fleet. The Italian fleet, the Austrian fleet, the Italian fleet, in two public accounts entire loss all told Austrian Chronicle estimated the total corps at about 100,000 officers. The Italian loss is very great but the loss of Austrians is believed to be considerably greater.

Prussian dispatches of the King of Hanover to allies with Austria out of this throne, on condition of his equipping with the honors of war and accepting the heads of Federal rule.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH

SAN FRANCISCO, July 10.—The passengers by the Moses Taylor who left here on the 8th of July, arrived in Nicaragua on the 16th July, having crossed Nicaragua in twenty four hours an unusually short time.

The records of the health office for the past year, show that the death in twelve months amount to but one in fifty of the population of the city residents and floating. This is a state exhibit than can be matched by any city in the United States.

The Alta of the 10th inst. says that the Misses Sanders of politics in some of the Insurance companies somewhat sensitive. The loss sustained by the Phoenix Insurance Company of Hartford, does not exceed $40 000.

The Yellow Jacket, Hale and Silver mining company have declared dividends the former of $50 and the latter of $75 per foot. Hale and Norcross sunk a shaft in the past week to the depth of 1200 feet.

Beware of imposters. Examine every bottle See that it has our private U S Stamp unmutilated over the cork with plantation scene and our signature on a fine steel plate as label. See that our little name is engraved with equal neatness and delicate beauty. Any person selling counterfeit Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk is an imposter. Any person imitating this bottle or selling any other material therein whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U S Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from Indies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. RECONSTRUCTION.

FINAL REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF FIFTEEN

The Joint Committee of Fifteen on Reconstruction submitted the final report to Congress on the 8th of June. They set forth the reasons for the conclusions to which they came in reporting an amendment to the Constitution of the United States and the two bills with which the public are already familiar. Speaking of the condition of the Confederate States at the close of the rebellion the Committee say those States were in utter exhaustion and without Governments. The President had no power except to execute the laws of the land as Chief Magistrate. The laws gave him no authority over the subject of reorganization. By the Constitution he was Commander in Chief of the army and navy. It was his duty under the law of nations and the army regulations, to restore order, to preserve property and to protect the people against violence from any quarter until provision should be made for their government. He might, as President, assemble Congress, and submit the whole matter to the law-making power, or he might continue military supervision and control until Congress should assemble on its regularly appointed day. As to the Governors appointed by the President it could not be contended that they possessed or could exercise any but military authority. They had no power to organize civil Governments, nor to exercise any authority except that which inhered in their persons under their commissions neither had the President, as Commander-in-Chief, any other than military power. But he was in exclusive possession of the military authority. It was for him to decide how far he would exercise it, when and on what terms he would withdraw it. He might, perhaps, permit the people to assemble and to initiate local governments, and to execute such local laws as they might choose to form, not inconsistent with nor in opposition the laws of the United States, and satisfied they might safely be left to themselves he might withdraw the military force altogether and leave the people of any or all of those States to govern themselves without his interference.

The Committee, after speaking of the origin and leading incidents of the war, say it was waged as a civil war of gigantic magnitude. It was necessarily subject to all the rules which, by the laws of nations, control a contest of this character, and to all the legitimate consequences following it. One of the consequences was this: Within the limits prescribed by humanity the conquered rebels were at the mercy of their conquerors. The Committee did not deem it necessary or proper to discuss the question whether the late Confederate States are still States of this Union or can ever be otherwise. Grant this profitless abstraction about which so many words have been wasted, it by no means follows that the people of those States may not place themselves in a condition to abrogate the powers and privileges incident to a State of the Union, and deprive themselves of all pretence to the right to exercise their power and enjoy their privileges. The Committee maintain no portion of the people of the country, whether in a State or Territory, have the right, while remaining on its soil, to withdraw from or reject the authority of the United States. They say it is quite evident, from all the facts, and, indeed, from the whole mass of testimony submitted by the President, that in no instance was any regard paid to any other consideration than obtaining immediate admission to Congress under the barren form of an election, in which no precautions were taken to secure regularity of proceedings or the assent of the people. No Constitution has been legally adopted, except, perhaps, in the State of Tennessee, and such elections as were held were without authority of law. The Committee is accordingly forced to the conclusion that the States referred to have not placed themselves in a condition to claim representation in Congress, unless all the rules which have, since the foundation of the Government been deemed essential in such cases, shall be disregarded. The Committee then reviews at length the condition and feeling of the Southern people, saying, among other things, that the latter claim as a right the privilege of participation at once in the Government which, for four years they sought to overthrow, while their presses abound in abuse of the loyal States, and efforts are made to perpetuate the deadly hate and discord between the two sections and excite hostility against the Federal Union.

The report, which is a long one, concludes, as follows, which may be regarded as a summary of the whole case:

The evidence of an intense hostility to the Federal Union and an equally intense love of the late Confederacy, by the war is decisive. While it appears that nearly all are willing to submit for the time being at least, to Federal authority; it is equally clear that the ruling motive is a desire to obtain the advantages which will be derived from a representation in Congress. Officers of the Union army on duty, and Northern men who go South to engage in business, are generally detested and proscribed. Southern men who adhered to the Union are bitterly hated and heartlessly persecuted. In some localities prosecutions have been instituted in State courts against Union officers for acts done in the line of official duty, and similar prosecutions are threatened elsewhere as soon as demonstrations show a state of feeling against which it is unmistakably necessary to guard. The testimony is conclusive that after the collapse of the Confederacy the feeling of the people of the rebellious States was that of abject submission. Having appealed to the tribunal of arms, they had no hope except that, by the magnanimity of their conquerors, their lives and possibly their property might have been preserved. Unfortunately, the general issue of pardons to persons who had been prominent in the rebellion, and the feeling of kindness and conciliation manifested by the Executive and generally indicated through the Northern press, had the effect to render whole communities forgetful of the crime they had committed, defiant toward the Federal Government, and regardless of their duty as citizens. The conciliatory measures of the Government do not seem to have been met even half way. The bitterness and defiance exhibited toward the United States under such circumstances, is without a parallel in the history of the world. In return for our leniency, we receive only an insolent assumption of rights and privileges long since forfeited. The crime we have punished is paraded as a virtue, and the principles of Republican Government which we have vindicated at so terrible a cost, are denounced as unjust and oppressive.

If we add to this evidence the fact that although peace has been declared by the President, he has not to this day deemed it safe to restore the writ of habeas corpus to relieve the insurrectionary States of martial law, nor to withdraw the troops from many localities, and that the commanding General deems an increase of the army indispensable to the preservation of order and the protection of loyal and well-disposed people in the South, the proof of a condition of feeling hostile to the Union and dangerous to the Government through out the insurrectionary States would seem to be alarming.

We now propose to re-state as briefly as possible the general facts and principles applicable to all the States recently in rebellion:

First—The seats of the Senators and Representatives from the so-called Confederate States became vacant in the year 1861, during the second session of the thirty-sixth Congress, by the voluntary withdrawal of their incumbents, with the sanction and by the direction of their respective States. This was done as a hostile act against the Constitution and the Government of the United States, with the declared intention to overthrow the same by forming a Southern Confederation. This act of declared hostility was speedily followed by an organization of the same States with a Confederacy which lived and waged war by sea and land against the United States. This war continued more than four years, within which period the rebel armies besieged the national capital, invaded the loyal States, burned their towns and cities, robbed their citizens, and destroyed more than 260,000 loyal soldiers, and imposed an increased national burden of not less than $3,000,000,000, of which seven or eight hundred millions have already been met and paid. From the time the Confederate States thus withdrew from their representation in Congress and levied war against the United States, the great masses of their people became and were insurgents and traitors and all of them assumed and occupied the political, legal and practical relation of enemies of the United States. This position is established by acts of Congress and judicial decisions, and is recognized repeatedly by the President in public proclamations documents and speeches.

Second—The States thus confederated presented the war against the United States to final arbitrament and did not cease until their armies were captured their military power destroyed their civil officers, State and Confederate, taken prisoners or put to flight, every vestige of State and Confederate Government obliterated, their territory overrun and occupied by the Federal armies, and their people reduced to the condition of enemies conquered in war, entitled only by public law to such rights, privileges and conditions as might be vouchsafed by the conqueror.

This position is also established by judicial decisions, and as recognized by the President in public proclamations, documents and speeches.

Third—Having voluntarily deprived themselves of representation in Congress for the criminal purpose of destroying the Federal Union, and having reduced themselves, by the act of levying war, to the condition of public enemies, they have no right to complain of temporary exclusion from Congress, but on the contrary, having voluntarily renounced their right to representation and by public declaration thereby subjected themselves to the Government, the burden now rests upon them, before resuming the position to show that they are entitled to resume Federal relations. In order to do this they must prove that they have re-established the supremacy of the Constitution and laws of the United States; that all hostile purposes have ceased and should give adequate guarantees against future treason and rebellion which will prevent a recurrence of the Government against which they rebelled and the wars arising they were subdued.

Fourth—Having the right to withdraw it from Congress, and the Executive rebellion and war forfeited all civil and political rights under the Federal Constitution they can only be restored thereto by the permission and authority of that constitutional power against which they rebelled and by which they were subdued.

Fifth—These rebellious armies were conquered by the people of the United States acting through all the co-ordinate branches of the Government and not by the Executive Department alone. The powers of Congress are not to restrict the President that he can fix and regulate the terms of restoration and confer Congressional representation upon conquered rebels and traitors, he can be in any way unduly enemies of the Government to exercise its law making power. The authority to restore rebels to political power in the Federal Government can be exercised only with the concurrence of all the departments in which political power is vested, and hence the several proclamations of the President to the people of the Confederate States cannot be considered as extending beyond the purposes declared and can only be regarded as provisional permission by the Commander in Chief of the army to do certain acts the validity whereof is to be determined by the Constitutional Government, and not solely by the Executive power.

Sixth—The question before Congress is, then whether conquered enemies have the right and shall be permitted at their own pleasure and on their own terms to participate in making laws for their conquerors? Whether conquered rebels may change their theatre of operations from the battle field where they were overthrown to the halls of Congress, and through this representation solve upon the Government which they fought to destroy? Whether the National Treasury, the army of the nation, its forts and arsenals, its whole civil administration, its credit, its pensioners, the widows and orphans of those who perished in the war, the public honor, peace and safety, shall all be traced over to the keeping of its recent enemies without delay, and without requiring conditions as in the opinion of Congress the security of the country and its institutions may demand.

Seventh—The history of mankind exhibits no example of such madness and folly. The instinct of self-preservation protests against it. The surrender by Grant to Lee, and by Sherman to Johnson, would have been a disaster of less magnitude, for now armies could have been raised, new battles fought and the Government raised. The anti coercion policy, which, under the pretext of avoiding bloodshed, allowed the rebellion to take form and gather force, would be surpassed in infamy by the matchless wickedness that would now surrender the bulls of Congress to those so recently in rebellion, until proper precaution shall have been taken to secure the national faith and the national safety.

Eighth—It has been shown in this report, and in the evidence admitted, that no proof has been afforded to Congress of a constituency in any of the so-called Confederate States, unless we except the State of Tennessee, qualified to elect Senators and representatives in Congress. No State constitution or amendment to a State constitution has had the sanction of the people. All the so called legislation of State conventions and Legislatures has been had under military dictation. If the President may at his will and under his own authority, whether as military commander or chief executive, qualify persons and appoint Senators and elect Representatives, and empower others to appoint and elect them, he thereby practically controls the organization of the Legislative Department. The constitutional form of Government is thereby practically destroyed, and its powers absorbed in the Executive, and while your Committee do not for a moment impute to the President any such design, but cheerfully concede to him the most patriotic motives, they cannot but look with alarm upon a precedent so fraught with danger to the Republic.

Ninth—The necessity of providing adequate safeguards for the future before restoring the insurrectionary States to a participation in the direction of public affairs, is apparent from the bitter hostility to the Government and people of the United States yet existing throughout the conquered territory, made incontestible by the testimony of many witnesses and by undisputed facts.

Tenth—The conclusion of your Committee, therefore, is, that the so called Confederate States are not at present entitled to representation in the Congress of the United States, that before allowing such representation, adequate security for future peace and safety should be required, that this can only be found in such changes of the organic laws as shall determine the civil rights and privileges of the citizens in all parts of the Republic; shall put representation on an equitable basis, shall fix a stigma upon treason and protect the loyal people against future claims for the expenses incurred in support of the rebellion, and for manumitted slaves, together with an express grant of power in Congress to enforce those provisions. To this end they offer a joint resolution for amending the Constitution of the United States and the two several bills designated to carry the same into effect, before referred to. Before closing this report, your Committee beg leave to state that the specific recommendations submitted by them are the result of concession, after a long and careful comparison of conflicting opinions. Upon a question of such magnitude, infinitely important as it is to the future of the Republic, it was not to be expected that all should think alike. Sensible of the imperfections of the scheme, your Committee submit to Congress as the best that they could agree upon, in the hope that its imperfections may be cured and its deficiencies supplied by legislative wisdom, and that when finally adopted it may tend to restore peace and harmony to the country, and to place our Republican institutions on a more stable foundation.

BLOODY AFFAIR AT INDEPENDENCE, MISSOURI.—A dispatch to the St. Louis Democrat, dated Independence, Mo., June 11th, says:

"A party of bushwhackers made an attack upon the jail in this city last night at 10 o'clock, for the purpose of rescuing some prisoners. The bushwhackers were beaten off but Henry Bugler, the Deputy Sheriff and jailor, was instantly killed, and his little boy was dangerously injured.

Quite an excitement prevails, 1,000 loyalists are in council, and Jackson county will now be purged. Business houses are closed and in mourning."

Another dispatch says:

"At half past 10 o'clock last night, five bushwhackers entered Independence and proceeded to the house of Henry Bugler City Marshal, and endeavored to obtain the keys of the jail for the purpose of releasing a man named Jonh Perry, one of their number who had been arrested the day previous and confined in the jail of that place.

Mr Bugler, refusing to give up the keys was instantly killed. Several citizens instantly armed themselves proceeded to the scene of disturbance, and compelled the bushwhackers to beat a hasty retreat, but having no horses the citizens could pursue but a short distance and the outlaws escaped unhurt."

NO IMPOSTOR.—The following is from the Sacramento Union. The Walla Walla Statesman, the paper which, for no other reason than that Mr Vinton is a Union man, originated these reports about him, will do well to take notice:

Some time since certain Oregon and Idaho papers cautioned the public against J. E. Vinton, who has delivered addresses in California on temperance and Union, and represented that he passed himself off as a special mail agent, borrowed money of Postmasters without repaying them and did other things that were not seemly. These notices of the press north were circulated without any known denial, and the substance of them was published in the Union. We have received an explanation from Vinton who is at Helena M. T., who writes that those reports were put in circulation there by Copperheads and ex rebels after he had addressed a large Union meeting at Helena. Vinton towards legally certified copies of his appointments as special mail R. C. Haskell, special agent of the Post Office Department, and of the instructions given to him. The charges of borrowing money from Postmasters, etc., he says are false, and notoriously and ridiculously so. It is but just that those facts be made known by Union papers in refutal of Copperhead misrepresentations.

The Martyr of Fort Monroe

The strain in an effort of those who have no word of horror for the torture and massacre of Union soldiers at Andersonville and Belle Isle to represent Jefferson Davis as the victim of cruelty at Fort Monroe have occasioned the publication of his bill of fare for a week, which has been widely published. There are thousands of honest people all over the land, who work hard for their living who would be very glad of half as good fare as the Martyr of Fort Monroe daily enjoys. For those of our readers who may not have seen the list we quote a specimen:

Wednesday.—Breakfast—Ham and eggs with mutton chop, butter, sugar, rolls, milk. Dinner—Mutton chops, stewed potatoes, pickles, bread, ale, butter.

Tuesday.—Breakfast—Beefsteak, two boiled eggs, bread and butter, bread, sugar, milk. Dinner—Mutton chops, potatoes, pickles, bread, ale, butter.

Sunday.—Breakfast—Mutton chops, two boiled eggs, bread, butter, milk, sugar, coffee. Dinner—Stewed pigeons, potatoes, pickles, bread, butter, ale.

This probably compares favorably with the daily bill of fare at Andersonville but since the rebels will undoubtedly be a persistent attempt to excite sympathy and even admiration for Jefferson Davis as a political prisoner suffering for an honest difference of opinion, it is as well to understand clearly and precisely what his position is.

The odium that hangs around his name and which will forever deepen, does not arise from the fact that he held abstractly the theory of State sovereignty and the constitutionally reserved right of secession, but that he and his fellow-conspirators chose to assert that doctrine at the cost of countless innocent lives and of the welfare of the country, not to remedy injustice or oppression for which there was no legal redress, but to perpetuate the foulest system of tyranny under the sun. Had Davis and his confederates appealed to God and mankind for the rectitude of their intention as revealed in the purpose of the war which they invoked—had they armed against the National Government in the name of State rights which that Government had denied—had they risen against an arbitrary power which was grinding them and their families, and trampling upon an acred natural, and constitutional rights for which it refused a remedy—then, indeed the last terrible appeal to blood, which only hopeless oppression authorizes, would have been justified, and their cause, however unfortunate, would have commanded the admiration and sympathy of the world.

It is idle to say that, holding secession to be a constitutional right, they might assert it at any time, and for any purpose which pleased them, when war is the cost of the practical assertion of any right it can be justified only by the fact of vital grievance for which there is no other redress or by the purpose for which it is intended to secure that right. That was the justification of our great revolution of 1776. But what is Jefferson Davis as the official representative of the rebellion of 1861? He is a man who deliberately plunged his country into the most fearful war, and flooded it with blood that he might whip women and sell children at his pleasure. His pretense was State sovereignty, his purpose was human slavery. That was the object for which he and the other leaders "fired the Southern heart." For this they directed the war. For this they starved brave men at Andersonville and Belle Isle, tortured them into idiocy, and shot them like dogs. For this were Southern Union men seized at night, and before the eyes of their despairing wives and agonized children hung and shot and drowned. For this they drove thousands and thousands of conscripts to die upon the field of battle. For this Jefferson Davis' garments reek with innocent blood, and his name is a stench.

Here is a pretty martyr, with his ham and eggs and pressed oysters! Here is a Christian hero and General Miles must be removed if he does not how low enough? Here is a model American who must be magnified into a Spielberg victim and sufferer of the Bastile if his muffins are not toasted, and his beef steak is overdone! Our readers will bear us witness that we have not advocated vengeance, that we think the trial of Davis for treason a mistake, and that we are ready to take, with fair precautions, all the necessary and inevitable risks of the situation. But the maudlin sentimentality that would drape with the dignity of a martyr for political opinion a man who for such a purpose waged such a war we believe will deservedly recoil on those who foster it. We have no wish to revive dead feuds or to use harsh words, but we can conceive no greater misfortune to the manhood of American youth than that they should be taught to regard Benedict Arnold as an honorable man, or Jefferson Davis as a guiltless and unfortunate patriot. Harper's Weekly.
